

Venice Architecture Biennale 2010

Korea

The South Korean pavilion is a rich mix of old and new, from traditional craftsmanship to Smartphone apps. Ignore the clutch of modish phrases (Differential life integral city, collective intelligence urbanism) and enjoy the fine traditional carpentry that intersects the internal volumes of Seok Chul Kim's quaintly, quasi-modern high-tech pavilion.

40 of 62 Prev / Next Start Slideshow

Venice Architecture Biennale 2010

ARCHITECTURE 03 SEP 2010

RELATED LINKS

Read the article: Venice Architecture Biennale 2010

BOOKMARKS

Share this on Facebook

Tweet this